

106TH CONGRESS
2D SESSION

S. CON. RES. 155

---

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

OCTOBER 25, 2000

Referred to the Committee on International Relations

---

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Expressing the sense of Congress that the Government of the United States should actively support the aspirations of the democratic political forces in Peru toward an immediate and full restoration of democracy in that country.

Whereas democracy in Peru suffered a severe setback when the Government of Peru, headed by President Alberto Fujimori, manipulated democratic electoral processes and failed to establish the conditions for free and fair elections—both for the April 9, 2000, election and the May 28, 2000, run off—by not taking effective steps to correct the “insufficiencies, irregularities, inconsistencies, and inequities” documented by the Organization of American States (OAS) and other independent election observers;

Whereas the absence of free and fair elections in Peru has further undermined democracy in that country and constitutes a major setback for the Peruvian people and for democracy in the Hemisphere; and

Whereas the fate of Peruvian democracy is a matter that should be decided upon by the people of Peru: Now, therefore, be it

1        Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives 2        concurring), That (a) the Congress—

3                (1) supports efforts toward restoring democracy
4                in Peru, including the shortening of the term of 5                Alberto Fujimori, the recent call for new elections,
6                and the decision to deactivate the National Intel-
7                ligence Service (SIN);

8                (2) is concerned that the same elements which 9                have systematically undermined democratic institu-10                tions in Peru and which manipulated the electoral 11                process in April and May 2000 remain in power and 12                are in a position to manipulate the upcoming elec-13                toral process; and

14                (3) supports the efforts of Peruvian democratic 15                civil society to create the necessary conditions for 16                free and fair elections, including improving respect
17                for human rights, the rule of law, the independence
18                and constitutional role of the judiciary and the na-19                tional congress, and freedom of expression and of 20                the independent media.

21                (b) It is the sense of Congress that—

1           (1) it should be the policy of the United States
2           to actively support the aspirations of the democratic 3           political forces in Peru for a credible transition to-4           ward the full restoration of democracy and the rule
5           of law in Peru, headed by leaders who are committed
6           to democracy and who enjoy the trust of the Peru-
7           vian people;

8           (2) it should be the policy of the United States
9           to work with the international community, including 10          the OAS, to assist democratic forces in Peru in re-
11          storing democracy to their country;

12          (3) the Government of Peru should establish a 13          fully independent and credible election authority and 14          should end all interference with freedom of speech
15          and the media;

16          (4) the Government of Peru should fully imple-
17          ment the recently enacted law deactivating the SIN
18          and the United States Government should oppose all 19          elements of the Government of Peru that continue to 20          subvert Peruvian democracy; and

21          (5) the United States Government should co-
22          operate fully with any credible investigation of nar-

- 1       cotics or arms trafficking by officials of the Govern-
2       ment of Peru.

Passed the Senate October 24 (legislative day, September 22), 2000.

Attest:

GARY SISCO,
Secretary.